Desk review, Thu Oct 15

Oct 15, 2026 · @Louis

Today looks like a washout, not yet a bottom: falling yields lifted the Dow and S&P 500 after an Asian chip crash. TSMC beat but TSM US trades 2–4% lower, so the Week 1 gate reads M. Our book is one position: $100k of DHT, bought after hours Wednesday at $24.95 and flat at the close, with $900k (90%) in cash.

The tape

Market	Move (US: open, then midday)	Why
Asia	Kospi −7.6%, Nikkei −4.9%, Taiex −3.4%	SK hynix −11%, Samsung −9%
S&P 500	−0.5%, then up to +0.3%; Dow up to +1%	Consumer, health care
Nasdaq	−1.3%, then −0.2% to −1.4%	SOX −4.2% on Wednesday
10-year yield	5.30% after PPI, then 5.05%	Bonds turned stocks

PPI: 6.3% y/y against 5.5% expected; Oct 28 hike odds 34–54%. Brent about $104, −2%.

TSMC and the gate

Revenue ($46.7B) and EPS ($4.60 per ADR) beat, and Q4 guidance implies +14% from Q3, but gross margin slipped to 66.4%. TSM US closed Wednesday at $430.00, then traded −3.8% at 10:26 AM and −2.4% at 11:49 AM. The 11:00 bar decides (−3% or worse is B); the stock is back in the M band.

Positions and P&L

From the TMSG tab of the Oct 14 workbook (4:55 PM ET). DHT filled after hours at its $24.95 limit against a $24.97 close, so the book is flat. No Thursday price for DHT turned up in search, so mark it on the terminal tonight.

Name	Shares	Avg cost	Last	Value	P&L	Weight
DHT UN	4,008	$24.95	$24.95 (Oct 14)	$100.0k	$0 (0.0%)	10%
Cash				$900.0k		90%
Portfolio				$1,000.0k	$0 (0.0%)	100%

Our score is the return relative to the WLS index. WLS fell 0.82% on Wednesday and 1.14% over five days, so a flat book is probably ahead of it. The workbook leaves WLS return, relative return and rank blank; fill them from TMSG and check `WLS Index` on the terminal.

Exit levels

These are the team's levels from the trade log, measured from the $24.95 cost. DHT sits 6.2% above its stop and 8.2% below its target.

Name	Avg cost	Stop loss (close below)	Take profit (limit)	Time stop	P&L at stop / target
DHT UN	$24.95	$23.40 (−6.2%)	$27.00 (+8.2%)	Nov 9	−$6.2k / +$8.2k

- Stop loss: a close below $23.40 means selling all 4,008 shares; dips below it during the day don't count. That loss would be 0.6% of the book.

- Take profit: the $27.00 limit sells the whole position. It sits under BTIG's $28 target; DHT closed at $23.71 on Oct 7.
- Time stop: out by Nov 9 at any price, before the ex-dividend date. The challenge ends Nov 13.
- Risk: tanker stocks fall on reopening headlines. DHT dropped on Sep 22 when Iran offered to reopen the strait, and our entry came after another such headline cut tankers 3–6%.
- Each new buy gets its own row here with a stop, a target and a time stop.

Today and Friday

- [ ] Tonight: fill the Oct 15 TMSG tab: DHT mark, cash, WLS return, relative return and rank.
- [ ] DHT: sell all on a close below $23.40, at $27.00, or by Nov 9.
- [ ] Cash: $900k is idle. The branch M buys in the Week 1 plan tab assumed Tuesday and Wednesday fills that never happened, and the log points to a different plan (a flex slot, Lumentum at $90k). Pick one plan for Friday's buys; with the 20% cap, being fully invested takes at least five names.
- [ ] Friday: a break of today's lows or a 10-year yield above 5.30% means no new AI buys.

Sources (noon ET search results; verify on the terminal): Yahoo · TheStreet · Yahoo live · Sharecast · Nasdaq (SOX) · TSMC 6-K · Investing.com · MSN (TSM) · Globe and Mail (PPI) · CNBC (PPI) · Trading Economics (Brent)

Book: Oceans11-Daily-10_14.xlsx, TMSG and Log tabs (Oct 14, 4:55 PM ET). DHT: heygotrade (Oct 7 close, BTIG target) · Motley Fool (Sep 22).